PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, November 17.

THE new Levies for an Augmentation in our Troops do not slacken in the least, and not a Day passes without sending away 50 or 60 Recruits to Silesia; so that we reckon to have a powerful Army on Foot next Spring. No Body here doubts that the King has some grand Design in his Head, which will probably break out when we least think on it. There is a private Negotiation on the Tapis concerning the Upper Silesia and the Dutchy of Mecklembourg.

Berlin, December 1. It is currently reported that Count de Finckenstein, who was some Time since his Majesty's Minister at Stockholm, will be sent into France to intimate to that Court the Sentiments of ours in Regard to the War in Bavaria: It is generally believed that his Commission will not be relish'd at Versailles.

They write from Bavaria, that Count Seckendorff could not help blaming the Conduct of the French in their Retreat from Bohemia; he complains, that tho' they have gained a few Marches on the Austrians, yet they afterwards suffer'd themselves to be baffled again.

GERMANY.

Dresden, November 21. The Austrian Hussars seiz'd, a few Days ago, twelve Barges laden with Provisions for the French, and paid the Watermen their Freight in a Coin so disagreeable to them, that, in all Appearance, they will not be in a Hurry to take upon them Commissions of this Nature for the future.

Vienna, November 24. The French have at last, by ruinous Marches, passed the Iser with 17,000 Men, and have 9000 still beyond Dingelfing, whilst 4000 have posted themselves near Deckendorff. There are People who think the Intention of the French is to endeavour to force the Austrians quite out of Bavaria, and to finish their Campaign with the Taking of Passau, and even of Lintz. In the mean while Prince Charles passed the Inn the 20th at Schärding, with a Design to push Count Seckendorff beyond that River, by dislodging him from Braunau.

From the Head Quarters of the Austrian Army at Vilshoffen, November 27.

It having been resolv'd, since the Great Duke's Departure, to draw near the Inn, that we might join General Berenclau upon Occasion, the Army quitted the Banks of the Iser, and march'd to this Place, where Prince Charles has fixed his Head-Quarters. General Damnitz has retreated from Deckendorff with the Troops he had in that Post. A Detachment of French took Possession of it immediately after. Prince Charles has dispatch'd a Courier to Prince Lobkowitz, with Orders to send him forthwith six Regiments of Infantry, and four of Cavalry.

Ratisbon, November 28. It is confirm'd, that in the Council of War, held at Straubingen the 19th Instant, a Resolution was taken to give the Austrians Battle; Marshal Broglio having represented, That as the Season was so far advanced, there was Reason to fear that Forage would fail in a Country so exhausted as Bavaria is; and therefore, that it was absolutely necessary to open themselves a Passage into Upper Austria by a Battle, in order to extend their Winter Quarters, &c. All the Generals were of his Opinion; and in Consequence thereof the French Army has passed the Iser in quest of the Austrians, but we begin to doubt whether there will be a general Action, because Prince Charles of Lorrain is very advantageously posted between Vilshoffen, Passau and Schardingen.

Ratisbon, November 29. Tho' we have no Letters directly from Landau and Deckendorff, yet we are pretty certain the Austrians have abandoned both these Posts, because we have good Advice of their having form'd themselves behind the River, in such a Manner, that it is impossible to attack them. These Advices are confirm'd by the News we have received this Morning, that the French Troops which passed the Iser, with Intent to have attacked the Austrians immediately, were repassing it again, having thought better of it, and being now inclined to go into Winter Quarters, if they can find them. This Moment a Courier is arrived from Straubingen, from whom we learn, that the Marshal Broglio is still there, which is a certain Sign that his Fit of Heroism is over for this Season, and that he has no Thought of dying or conquering in this cold Weather. There are Letters from Salisbourg, which say, that there has been a sharp Action between Seckendorff and Berenclau, wherein the former tho' much the strongest has been beaten, and is thereupon retir'd to Munich, in order to prevent if possible that Place from falling a second Time into the Hands of the Austrians.

Ratisbon, November 30. We hear from Amberg, that a great Mortality reigns among the French, and is at last got among the Inhabitants of whom great Numbers are carried off every Day. It has been judg'd proper to shut up the City Gates except one, and such of the Garrison as escape this Distemper are sent to Stadt-am hoff. It is reckoned that the Number of French taken with that Distemper amounts to Three Thousand.

Ratisbon, December 3. Letters from Augsburg say, that Marshal Broglio had sent his Adjutant General to propose to the Magistrates of that City to consent that the French Generals may take their Quarters in that City, he himself intending to pass the Winter among them: But that the said Magistrates absolutely refused it, and being apprehensive least the French might use Force, not only armed all their Burghers, but also drew their Militia from the adjacent Country into the City, mounted their heavy Artillery upon the Ramparts, and put every Thing in such a Posture as to be able to repel Force with Force.

Dresden, December 5. The French at Tuetschen surrendered themselves, on the first Summons, Prisoners of War, the Garrison consisting only of 80 Men, but upwards of 30 Officers, there being several there on their Way to Prague. The Place was without Hopes of Succour, and in no State of Defence, neither were there found in it any considerable Quantity of Provisions. The Austrians are, in Consequence of this Acquisition, become again sole Masters of all Bohemia, excepting the Towns of Prague and Egra.

FRANCE.

Paris, November 30. It has been resolv'd not to raise any Militia in this City, but to levy a certain Sum on the Communities; with which Money the Lieutenant of the Police engages to find 15,000 Recruits before the Spring.

A few Days since there was a great Tumult at Rouen, the Burghers refusing to submit to the new Regulation concerning the Militia.

Paris, December 3. King Augustus's Envoy at this Court has receiv'd an Express from Dresden with the News of a Treaty concluded between his Polish Majesty and the Court of Vienna, whereby that Prince engages to furnish the Queen of Hungary with 20,000 Men.

Most of the Ladies at Court are violently exasperated against Cardinal Fleury, on Account of the Losses they are daily sustaining of their Husbands, Relations, and Lovers, by his carrying on the War in Germany.

ENGLAND

ENGLAND.

LONDON, November 27.

They write from Paris, that Assurances were given to such as incline to fit out Privateers at Brest and St. Malo, that they should have 3 4ths of whatever Prizes they take from the English, for their own Share

Yesterday the Italian Merchants waited on the Lords of the Admiralty with a Petition, praying, That small Men of War might be so stationed as to protect our Trade from the Cadiz, Malaga, and Ceuta Privateers; when their Lordships were pleased to assure them, that Orders had been sent to Admiral Mathews, to buy Half Galleys, and man them with all Expedition for that Purpose.

Letters from on board several Men of War in the Mediterranean advise, that his Majesty's Birth Day was very pompously celebrated by the Officers of the Fleet there; and that the Admiral gave on that Day to every Sailor on board, amounting to more than 14,000, a Pint of Wine each.

London, November 30. It is confidently reported, that there are Letters in Town from Flanders, giving an Account, that the Lord Dillon's Regiment, (one of the Irish in the Service of France) being ordered down to Dunkirk, the Soldiers mutinied, refused to obey the Commands of their Officers, and march'd off in a Body to the English Troops, to whom they readily surrender'd themselves.

London, December 2. Promotions are still making, and a late Statesman's chief Principle is still follow'd: Divide & Impera, is so sure a Maxim, that Places have been so divided and subdivided, that an old C—t—r of the K—g's says, 'tis hardly worth being BRIB'D.

We hear, that by the Treaty concluded with the Court of Berlin, his Majesty may depend upon a Body of 15,000 Prussians, in case he wants Assistance against a certain Power: The Treaty with the Court of Petersburgh stipulates a Body of 20,000 Russians in the like Case. The Defensive Engagements with those two Treaties likewise regard the Electorate of Hanover, and the Dutchies of Bremen and Verden. We also hear that a Treaty of the same Nature is the Tapis between Great Britain and the King of Poland as Elector of Saxony.

There are private Letters from Holland, dated from Ghent on the 3d Instant, N S which mention the Embarkation of the English Artillery, and that the Hanoverian, Hessian and English Troops were daily expected to begin their March, the Queen of Hungary's Forces to the Number of 5 or 6000 Men, having already begun their March towards the Sambre and the Meuse.

From Genoa we learn, that it currently reported there, that the King of the Two Sicilies intends to attack the Grand Duchy of Tuscany on one side, while Count Gage attacks it on the other; and that Capt Fox was sail'd for Leghorn, and was judg'd to have new Instructions in relation to a Visit to Naples, or was like to meet with them at that Port, in Case the before mentioned News prov'd true.

CHARLES TOWN, February 28.

On Tuesday last arrived here the Beaufort, one of our Galleys, commanded by Capt Lyford; she is since fallen down into Rebellion Road, and we hear, will soon sail on a Cruize off St. Augustine.

His Majesty's Ships the Rose and Flamborough are preparing to sail on a Cruize also, in a few Days; but we don't yet hear when the Swift will sail.

By Capt. Smith from Providence, we hear, that Captains Tyrrel and Dowell, with a Rhode Island Privateer were sailed to convoy the ransom'd Register Ship to Havanna.

We hear that a Sloop which arrived here a few Days ago from the Bay of Honduras, saw (five Days before her Arrival in this Port) on our Coast, a Spanish Privateer, and Four Vessels in Company which they suppos'd to be English Prizes; one of them being describ'd to be a large clean deep laden Ship, 'tis thought may prove to be the King George, Captain Cabot, bound from this Place for London.

On Saturday Afternoon returned into Rebellion Road his Majesty's Ship the Rye, Capt. Hardy Commander; we are informed, he has brought back all the Spanish Prisoners that were put on board him here in order to be exchanged at Augustine —— The Reason, he has not been able to reach so far to the Southward.
